The New Era

Newmarket, Friday Aug. 14, 1857.

General Summary.

To-morrow (Saturday) at 7 o'clock a.m. the various sections of road along the Town Line East will be let for building. This is an important road to Newmarket, as well as to the country East, and we hope the work will be prosecuted with vigor to final completion.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the Holland Landing Parochial Sabbath School purpose celebrating their Anniversary by a Tea-Party, on the 29th inst. Rev. S. F. Ramsay and other gentlemen are expected to address the meeting. No doubt there will be a large attendance, should the weather prove favorable.

King Municipal Council will meet at Mr. Blough's Inn, 6th Con. on Monday the 31st inst., for the purpose of levying School Rates. Trustees of School Sections desirous that the Council should collect their rates, must make application, setting forth the amount they wish to raise, to some one of the Councilmen on or before that day, or at the meeting.

Employ the telegraph with advantage—thereby saving both the time and expense of travelling to the city. No tradesmen in Newmarket but can establish a business connection in Toronto; and all he then has to do is, to step into the office here—transmit his order, and the next train brings the desired articles. We hope these advantages will be rightly appreciated by our citizens.

Our confessor of the Bradford Chronicle has attempted to be a little witty at our remarks last week in reference to the formation of what we termed a "Board of Trade." After stating that the New Era advised a certain course, the Chronicle says—"We were previously unaware of the important objects of these Boards of Trade in country villages. We think it would be a more appropriate designation to call them Butter Boards." Well now perhaps our contemporary does "think" so: what is bred in the bone will exhibit itself in the flesh, and how is it possible to tell but what this is the height of his imagination—pooh—pooh!—What a mighty effort this must have cost him! Seriously, we hope the Chronicle's Editor is not often troubled with the nightmare.

The Bank robbery affair has engaged the attention of the police Court during the whole of the week ending on Wednesday last. Cunningham, the Bank Clerk or Agent has been bound over to appear at the Assizes on the charge of embezzlement; and the further examination of McGaffy and Kerby's complicity has been adjourned to the 7th of September next. So far as we can learn from the evidence there has been no criminal charge established against either of the two last named gentlemen; and we think the city daily journals were either premature in their comments: for should the matter be carried to a higher court, their remarks might have the effect of prejudicing the public mind to the injury of the parties named in the indictment.

Newmarket as a Market.

In following up the articles already published, in reference to the construction of the Town Line Road—East and West, we shall now proceed to give the farmers in the vicinity, and likely to be benefited by the construction of the proposed Road, some idea of the importance of Newmarket, as a Market for produce. And although we have no positive data regarding a large number of articles brought into market; yet we have been enabled to procure nearly accurate figures in Wheat, Flour and Wool, and from these, deductions can be drawn as to the probable amount of business in other descriptions of produce: Wheat shipped from Newmarket.

Station, from 31st May, 1856,
to 1st June, 1857, one year, 92,000 Bush.
Wheat purchased and flouted 28,000 "

Total Bushels - - - - - 120,000

Barrels of Flour shipped from Station, - - - - - 14,000

Wool brought to Newmarket Factory - - - - - 32,000 lbs.
Wool bought at Station - - - - - 20,000 "

Total, - - - - - 52,000 lbs.

These figures have been compiled from the most reliable authority, and we venture to affirm they will compare favorably with any other Station along the Northern Railroad. In Oats, Peas, Potatoes, Butter, Eggs, &c., we have no positive means of collecting information, in consequence of the large number of dealers; but from what we have been enabled to ascertain, the trade in these articles will bear an equal comparison with the figures above quoted. It should be borne in mind, too, that when produce is brought here, farmers can always depend on getting the cash for what they may have to dispose of. This is an important matter, and furnishes additional evidence of the necessity and advantage of the line to the farming community. Newmarket now can boast of men engaged in the purchase of the staple productions of the soil, commanding any amount of means,—thus rendering it a market that may be depended upon. A few years ago, it was difficult for a farmer to obtain cash for his produce here, at any price; now, however, $1 000 in a day is not unfrequently paid for Wheat, Flour, Wool, &c. This state of trade is certainly very encouraging, to say the least, and may serve to give strangers unacquainted with our position, a knowledge of the growing importance of the locality as a trading place. It is useless for us to speak of the character and qualifications of our business men; or of the nature and extent of their establishments. Suffice it to say—we believe the stock and variety of goods are by far the most extensive of any country village in the County; and articles of consumption, in nearly every case, can be purchased as cheap, and in many instances cheaper, than in Toronto. These are facts which are being developed nearly every day—contributing materially to strengthen the position of this locality as a trading place, and adding to the already wide and extensive field of operations of our Merchants and Traders. New Mills, to be driven by steam, are now in course of erection, while our mechanics, whose machinery has hitherto been driven by horse power, are now making arrangements to use steam. This will enable them to compete successfully with neighboring localities, and thus furnish articles of commodity to the farmer at prices below their present cheap rates.

Another thing that has materially contributed to the stability of Newmarket, and widened the field of operations of our business men, is, the inhabitants have never been affected with that wild and speculative mania, which has proved the curse to so many new villages and towns. Nearly every man conducts his business on a safe and sound principle—upon his own individual capital, and relies upon personal application and exertion in superintending his business, for future success. This has given a healthy tone to public credit, and Newmarket now stands unrivaled by any other locality, among commercial men with whom they transact business, at a distance.

These considerations, among numerous others, makes the place a desirable market for the farmer, and points out the necessity for the immediate construction of leading roads to the locality.

Magistrates' Court—Aurora.

A Magistrates' Court was held at Aurora, on Saturday last, the 8th inst.—Samuel Phillips, R. P. Irwin and J. D. Phillips, Esq., were on the Bench. The first case called was—

George Clidbey vs. Andrew Clidbey.

The defendant in this case was charged with stealing a cow from Plaintiff; but in reality, it was a most singular affair, and as difficult of solution as a majority of cases brought before Magistrates. The Plaintiff being sworn said—That his brother Andrew and himself had taken a farm on shares; and that he (Plaintiff) put $500 worth of stock more upon the place than his brother—that they made no special agreement—never had written articles of agreement signed—had no witness to the arrangement as to how the partnership was to be managed—each one kept and took care of his own stock—they sometimes consulted on the sale of an article and at other times did not—they partly agreed to dissolution sometime in January last; but had not settled their affairs. Not long since Defendant drove away one of the cows he (Plaintiff) had raised and claimed as his, and on this ground he had brought the present action. [These are not the exact words; but form the substance of Plaintiff's testimony.]

The Magistrates, consulted a few moments, and decided not to call any evidence for the defence—holding, that so long as the partnership business remained unsettled, it was not felony for either party to drive away that in which, both were interested, and dispose of it. If their agreement forbade an act of that kind, it then became a civil action; but unfortunately they had no written document to prove the agreement, nor witnesses to testify to the matter. They therefore would dismiss the case, with costs, which amounted to $3 80cts.

Sally Kennedy vs. George Kennedy.

This was a case of assault and battery, complainant being wife of defendant. Sally wanted her leige lord to either give bonds to keep the peace with two sureties,—or sign an indenture to pay her given sum quarterly towards the maintenance of their two children, and she would leave him forever. But defendant would not agree to the last proposition, and could not find any one to join him in complying with the former. He was therefore committed to goal for 12 calendar months, unless he could find two sureties that would join him to keep the peace before the expiration of the term.

The Court then adjourned.

[Since the above was put in type we learn poor George found sympathizers, who went his bail.]

A North American Temperance Convention is called to meet at Chicago on the 10th of November next.

Correspondence.

We wish to be distinctly understood that we are not responsible for the opinions of our correspondents.

To the Editor of the New Era.

Sir—I desire through your columns, to correct a false impression that has gone abroad in reference to the chiravari, and its results, which took place in this settlement on the 13th ultimo. You have already published the rumors on one side, and I will now give you the other side of the story.

On the evening mentioned I was informed that the said Albert Cuyler started before dark to go through the neighborhood to get all the boys he could to join him in the chiravari. A little after dark, he and his party arrived and commenced making a horrible noise. To this, the inmates of the house, along with myself, paid no attention. The party then became exasperated, and they were heard to swear that they "would have the bride, if they had to break all the doors in the building." Directly after, one of the party entered the enclosure around the house,—(this party afterwards proved to be Albert Cuyler)—and being disguised, of course the inmates of the house had no knowledge of who he was; however, I ordered off him the premises three times, when the disguised person made a pass at me with a large ball. Then it was that I determined to procure an infant and manage the affair, for which entire job she was willing to give the sum of $1000. Dr. Uhl declined the offer, and on advice of the counsel immediately instated District Attorney Hall of the conspiracy. This was about July 10th. The Doctor stated the facts, but declined on affidavit in the matter, for the present, as he did not wish his professional delicacy or confidence to be at issue.

Mr. Hall told him that if such a thing was contemplated by Mrs. Cunningham, it was a very serious felony, and referred the doctor to that section of the Revised Statutes, which says, "Every person who shall fraudulently produce an infant, falsely pretending it to have been born of parents whose child would be entitled to a share of any personal estate, or to inherit any real estate, with the intent of intercepting the inheritance of any such real estate, or the distribution of any such personal property from any person lawfully entitled thereto, shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in a State Prison not exceeding ten years." Mr. Hall further argued with the doctor that he might have it in his power to prevent the crime accomplishing its guilty fruits, or from being an undiscovered mystery, that under the strange circumstances surrounding this woman and her world-wide notoriety, and the unfortunate results which might follow to the community if her crimes should be detected, it was the duty of every man to do all in his power to thoroughly expose her. Dr. Uhl said he would reflect upon the matter. He did so, and on the following day told Mr. Hall that he would place himself entirely at his disposal and at those of the authorities, and engage in any plan which Mr. Hall might project. The advice of the District Attorney was that he should go, and concealing his doubts and suspicions, learn from Mrs. Cunningham her full views and arrangements.

The plans were all made known. For procuring the "unborn child" and assisting at the accouchement, Dr. Uhl was to receive $1000.

The doctor, on returning to the District Attorney and reporting progress, was advised to invent a tale about an unfortunate patient, of his—a Californian widow—who would soon give birth to a child, and that on a convenient day said child could be borned from Bellevue Hospital, under pretence of being given for adoption. That at the time appointed for the reception of the child, Mrs. Cunningham should affect being seriously indisposed, and the announcement would then be made of the birth of a young Burdell. Mrs. Cunningham had also secured Dr. C. Catlin, of Brooklyn, (the physician of Mr. Cunningham, her first husband) to be privy to the plot, and be present at the accouchement. This doctor she claimed was in her power, and she could depend upon his secrecy in the matter. A nurse was also engaged. Every arrangement having been made, Dr. Uhl wished to know what time Mrs. Cunningham, who it seemed had resorted to certain devices to deceive real appearances, would be convenient for her to be a mother, and Monday night the 3rd instant, was settled upon for the distinguished birth.

District Attorney Hall was kept posted on the subject, and with Dr. De La Montague of Fiskill, a friend of his, selected to take part in the drama, Dr. Uhl, Mr. Kellogg of the Alms House, and Governor Smith, held a conference on the 1st instant, as to the best mode of procedure. It was resolved to proceed on Monday to the "lying in" ward of Bellevue Hospital, and see what there was in prospect. A child was forthcoming, and would be ready for the occasion. It was deemed advisable to fit up a room down town where Mrs. Cunningham could send a messenger and get the youngster, and No. 190 Elm Street, over a larger beer saloon, was selected. Dr. Montague, in disguise, attended at this place: Dr. Uhl gave notice to Mrs. Cunningham that all was in readiness. She would not trust a messenger, but dressed in disguise and rode down in carriage to receive the child in person. Having obtained the precious little gem, she returned to 31 Bond Street, in ecstasy. The nurse and the maid, Dr. Catlin and the nurse were present, and she immediately changed her raptures by throwing herself upon the bed and affecting sickness.

Mrs. Cunningham's cries from her pretended suffering, were so alarming as to attract the attention of the neighbors, but in the short time they were reported to be over. Mrs. C. was convalescent, and there was the joyful announcement of a daughter born to the estate of Dr. Burdell. The father was too bereaved even to the passers by, and the police, posted on the programme of arrangement, rushed in and concluded the piece, by arresting Mrs. Cunningham, Dr. Catlin, Mrs. Jane Bell, the nurse, and Ann Burns, Mrs. Cunningham's sister. The latter three were immediately locked up in the 15th ward station house, to await an examination. Mrs. Cunningham, although with her attendants thrown into great consternation, still persisted in being sick, and claimed the child's birth. She acted her part admirably. The police did not insist on her going to the station house, as she claimed to be seriously indisposed, but a posse of officers was placed in custody of the bedroom and the entire premises, with instruction to neither permit ingress or egress until such time as the matter could be investigated. Mrs. Cunningham is reported to have said, after the pretended birth of the child, "I have put my trust in God, and he has favored me; I shall now be revenged upon my persecutors."

When the police entered she pretended to be very indignant, and claimed the child.

The police told her the child was not her's, and they would take it away, when she screamed, "Don't take my dear little innocent baby, my darling little daughter."

They persisted, however, and sent the child back to Bellevue to its mother, who was anxiously awaiting its return, and was delighted to find the child in a very rich dress.

The mother expressed herself greatly obliged to Mrs. Cunningham for dressing her child so gaily.

Alfildavys were made yesterday by District Attorney Hall and others, before Justice Davison, and the accused parties were held for examination.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM, EXAMINED.

At 10 o'clock on Friday morning last, the hour appointed for resuming the proceedings of the investigation in this case, the Public Administrator appeared, and with Justice Davison, accompanied by Mr. J. Murray, Clerk, and Mr. Stafford, counsel for Mrs. Cunningham, proceeded to No. 31 Bond Street, where she was then confined on a charge of murder. Dr. Uhl called as requested, and the officers who had attended through the night, still persisted in being sick, and claimed the child's birth. She acted her part admirably. The police did not insist on her going to the station house, as she claimed to be seriously indisposed, but a posse of officers was placed in custody of the bedroom and the entire premises, with instruction to neither permit ingress or egress until such time as the matter could be investigated. The police did not insist on her going to the station house, as she claimed to be seriously indisposed, but a posse of officers was placed in custody of the bedroom and the entire premises, with instruction to neither permit ingress or egress until such time as the matter could be investigated. Mrs. Cunningham is reported to have said, after the pretended birth of the child, "I have put my trust in God, and he has favored me; I shall now be revenged upon my persecutors."

When the police entered she pretended to be very indignant, and claimed the child.

The police told her the child was not her's, and they would take it away, when she screamed, "Don't take my dear little innocent baby, my darling little daughter."

They persisted, however, and sent the child back to Bellevue to its mother, who was anxiously awaiting its return, and was delighted to find the child in a very rich dress.

The mother expressed herself greatly obliged to Mrs. Cunningham for dressing her child so gaily.

Alfildavys were made yesterday by District Attorney Hall and others, before Justice Davison, and the accused parties were held for examination.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM, EXAMINED.

At 10 o'clock on Friday morning last, the hour appointed for resuming the proceedings of the investigation in this case, the Public Administrator appeared, and with Justice Davison, accompanied by Mr. J. Murray, Clerk, and Mr. Stafford, counsel for Mrs. Cunningham, proceeded to No. 31 Bond Street, where she was then confined on a charge of murder. Dr. Uhl called as requested, and the officers who had attended through the night, still persisted in being sick, and claimed the child's birth. She acted her part admirably. The police did not insist on her going to the station house, as she claimed to be seriously indisposed, but a posse of officers was placed in custody of the bedroom and the entire premises, with instruction to neither permit ingress or egress until such time as the matter could be investigated. "No one would like you for what you are," said an old-fashioned gentleman, to a dandy, who had more hair than brains. "I was immediately taken up. The reason they can't see your ears."

"A doctor refused a cent to a tailor because it did not fit him. The tailor seeing the doctor at the funeral of one of his patients, said, "Ah doctor, you are a happy man!" "Why so?" asked the doctor. "Because," replied the tailor, "you never wear any of your bad work returned on you."

"A wag one day speaking of two of his acquaintances, who had gone West, where the winters are usually attacked the first season, with the ague." Said he: "Neither of those men will be affected."

"Because," was the reply, "one of them is too lazy to shake, and the other won't shake till he gets pay for it."

"At a concert recently at the conclusion of the song 'There's a good Time Coming,' a country farmer got up and exclaimed: 'Mister, couldn't you fix the date?' Yes, that is what we want—just give us the date after it."

Now, once more, attention all—

That is to say, friends, to thank you all.

Perfume past— and still shall perse.

The work most pleasing to the eyes.

To my new premises, removed—

Where I have, then, to be proved,

Entertaining orders—and with skill—

Most of my new friends will be full.

Trusting the public will be well—

And not forget to call me—

Carriage painting, house and sign,

Paper hanging, Imperial &c.

Gilding, glazing, marbling too—

Most anything that hands can do;

And I have, now, a few hired,

Painting done to order required.

What quick despatch will be my pride,

What I turn out I make complete,

And bid defiance to defeat!!!
